NEWS OF SOUTHERN UTAH TOWNS

By Our Correspondents.

Parowan, Utah.

Parowan, July 11, 1906.

The L'Allegro Dramatic Company will present the drama "My Partner," at the Opera Hall Friday evening.

The Mutual Improvement Association have been asked to arrange the program for our State Pioneer Day.

The Sunday School officers and teachers held their regular meeting at Mary Rowley's home Tuesday evening.

By the Cowley Progress, Wyoming, we note that a number of our former Parowan residents were prominent at the 4th of July celebration. Miss Edythe Banks representing Wyoming.

On becoming a benedict and rendering his resignation to the Parowan Bachelor's Club, the Spinster's Circle gave an entertainment in honor of James L. Adams at the Ollerton residence Monday evening. A program and refreshments that only well matured maidens are competent of preparing were the order of the hour.

In a paper published at Bernard, Mesa Co., Colo., I read that some reliable parties in figuring up some statistical reports had estimated that there was a "Jones" born in the United States at the rate of one every forty minutes. This could scarcely have included the Jones families of Parowan, Utah.

Charles R. and Solon E. Lyman were two interesting speakers at the regular Sabbath services. In the evening Laura Pearl Adams gave a brief account of her late trip to Los Angeles, California, and sister Emily Caldwell Adams of the M. I. A. General Board gave a most excellent talk, and Mamie D. Orton rendered the solo "The song the choir sang."

Mrs. Delilah Dalton entertained at dinner yesterday, a feast of substantial and dainties being served in the best approved style. The guests were Chas. R. Lyman and wife, Geo. R. Lyman and wife, Solon E. Lyman, Dr. Woodbury and wife, Thor. Yardley and wife, Clark Lyman and wife, Mrs. Annie Roberts and Mrs. Elizabeth Ward, the Mrs. S. M. and E. Crane Watson.

Now that our Independence celebrations over it is a good time for all hands to put their efforts into preparing exhibits for the Iron County Fair. Encourage the children in the Primary department. Don't sit back and be balky because Parowan has never been supported by the other towns; let us do our best and show them what's right, and our loyalty as citizens of this county, by a fair exhibit of its possibilities and resources.

One of the rules of our Opera Hall Company is "that no one shall be allowed to dance with his coat off," at the same time visitors did dance minus this part of their dress at the 4th of July ball and the same parties mouthed around that "it was good enough for this uncivilized part of the world." We believe in "equality to all, special privileges to none." Men have no right to presume to dance with girls in such dishabille, and it is no mark of advanced civilization.

At the annual meeting of the school board yesterday a majority of those present decided that the salaries of those officials were too extravagant and voted a cut as follows: $20 per annum instead of $25 for each member of the board. For taking the school census, $10 per annum instead of $12, and for visiting schools $1.50 per day instead of $2. Result of the election—Jesse Ward and Alvin Benson, Republican 59 votes; Freeman Pendleton and James L. Adams, Democrat, 107 votes.

Mrs. Sarah M. Watson entertained at dinner Sunday afternoon in honor of Mr. George R. and Pearl Watson Lyman and children. There were present thirty-eight of her immediate family. Other relatives and guests were—Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Clark, Mrs. Delilah Dalton, Mr. and Mrs. James Connell, Wm. C. McGregor, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Halterman, Ada Richards, Will L. Adams, Bishop Richards and wife, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adams. After evening meeting all were invited to return and partake of cake and ice-cream and all present appeared to enjoy the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Clark entertained last evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Lyman, Solon E. Lyman, Mr. and Mrs. George R. Lyman, and Mrs. Annie Ward Roberts. The daintily served dinner reflected great credit upon the hostess and the beautifully embroidered doilies and flower decorations were no small feature of the elegantly set tables. After the repast, the program included talks by the guests of honor, of the country each had adopted for their home since leaving Parowan. Geo. R.; Solon E.; and Pearl Watson Lyman representing La Grande, Oregon; Charles R. and Barbara Lyman representing Cowley, Wyoming. Some interesting facts and accounts were given, showing that the newly chosen localities had many favorable conditions to offer the homeseeker who was honest, earnest and industrious, the greatest sacrifice to all being the separation from loved ones. A most enjoyable time was indulged in and the unanimous sentiment of the invited ones was, that Mr. and Mrs. Clark are royal entertainers.

Parley Dalley is home again. He has gained many experiences since he left here last fall.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Tweedie are contemplating a trip to Panguitch and vicinity this week.

The Messrs S. L. and John Fife were in town Sunday. They brought their best girls home.

At the school election on Monday, Mrs. R. Tweedie was re-elected a trustee for a term of three years.

A young lady came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Hulet on Monday. She is their eighth daughter.

Bishop Hulet and Counselors C. R. Dalley and Jos. E. Jones are the committee chosen to arrange a program for the 24th.

Kanarra, Utah.

Kanarra, July 8, 1906.

Our Nation's greatest day was ushered in with firing of cannons, guns and firecrackers. Serenading was dispensed with.

At the usual time a procession was formed under Marshal of the Day Lorenzo Williams, which marched around the public square and into the meeting house where the program for the meeting was carried out.

Singing by choir "Columbia the Gem of the Ocean," Prayer by Chaplain R. G. Williams.

The "Goddess of Liberty," Belle Williams and her maids of honor did great credit to themselves.

We must not forget the spirited way in which Zina Pollock read the Declaration of Independence.

Next was a tune by the Martial Band.

J. W. Berry displayed his usual tact in his oration, causing many to shed tears with the thought of what our forefathers has done to save our flag and nation.

The flag drill and a song by six little girls under the direction of Esther Parker called forth great applause.

May Smith gave a recitation followed by a selection by the string band.

The speech by the Goddess was much appreciated.

Next was a duet by Mrs. Johannah Ford and Miss Ethel Williams.

Esther Parker recited "When Angelina Johnson comes Marching Down De Hill."

We were then favored by a selection by the Martial band which Rena Davis called "Something New." It was "Du dah."

Toast by Geo. Berry. Here it is: "God made the earth, then rested. Then He made man and rested, then He made woman, and since that time neither God, man or the devil have ever rested."

Volunteer toast by lady or ladies: "Here's to God, man and the devil who rested. If they had continued to rest where would our nation be today?"

Singing by the choir and benediction.

In the afternoon were innocent and amusing sports, a children's dance and at night an adult dance. Ice cream was served at the Wm. Jones residence.

Bp. Wm. Ford is improving slowly from injuries sustained from falling off a load of hay last Tuesday. His eldest son John from Meador is with him.

Dixie peddlers are beginning to make their usual trips to these northern settlements.

La Verkin, Utah.

La Verkin July 8.

People are coming to bathe in the La Verkin sulphur springs.

The second crop of hay is mostly up. You can tell a man's last load by his whistle.

Someone please give a good remedy for squash bugs. (See issue June 22.—Ed.)

There are many complaints that the water doesn't come often enough; the garden is drying up. Get a cultivator, and after watering go through the garden with it. You will save time and the crop will do better. Land, cultivated will go at least three times as long without watering. You are then saving the time you would spend in watering three times, and very often it comes at night when the hours are long and sleepy.

A gala day at La Verkin on the 4th. At midnight the roar of artillery commenced. Situated as we are under the Hurricane mountain the echo bounded and rebounded giving a continuous roll for some time after the first sound, and there was music of freedom in it. The program, gotten up and pushed through by ladies was a success. There were one leg, two leg, three leg and four leg races; and tricks and games of all kinds. A smart feature of the celebration was that there was no begging for funds. Ice cream was delicious, the children had a free scoop between races, while the older ones paid for theirs, which provided money enough to defray all expenses.

Local Happenings.

The management of the Palace Drug Store has purchased a 26-foot front just south of the Jones property on the west side of Main street, and adjoining the bank corner on the north, on which it is the intention to erect a modern two-story business block. It is the talk now to make a solid block of the projected bank building, the drug store and the new furniture building.

The various committees are working hard on the Twenty-fourth program, and it is their intention to make the coming celebration the best Cedar has seen for years. The morning exercises will contain some novel and amusing features, as will also the rest of the day's program. Don't arrange to go elsewhere for your holiday, unless you would miss one of the most enjoyable celebrations of its kind ever held in Cedar.

The annual report rendered by the school trustee last Monday evening showed a balance in the treasury of a little more than $2,200. The new addition to the school building represented an expenditure of $2,000. The salaries paid teachers ranged from $65 down to $45 per month, but during the time that the schools were closed on account of scarletina the teachers drew only half pay.

The following persons have been employed to form the teaching force of the district school for the ensuing school year: E. B. Dalley, principal; Sylvester F. Jones of Enoch; John F. Joseph of Adamsville; Ethel Ashdown, Cedar City; Tillie Bentler, Richfield; Lillie Leigh, Cedar; May Stapley, Kanarra; Annie Hilton, Abraham; Mattie Hunter, Cedar; Zina Higbee, Cedar; Mary Brown, Hamilton's Fort.

M. D. HIGBEE, Sec'y.

John Perry and Kenneth Urie returned from the Mammoth the first of the week, where they had been on a fishing trip. They report that the fishing was fair the first two days, but that they must have captured them all, for after that they could not pull out enough to supply their camp. On account of the stream being high, they say that flies were useless, and that the only success they achieved was by the use of a baited hook.

Saved his Comrades Life.

"While returning from the Grand Army encampment at Washington City, a comrade from Elgin, Ill., was taken with cholera morbus and was in a critical condition," says Mr. J. E. Houghland, of Eldon, Iowa. "I gave him Chamberlain's cholera, Cholice and Diarrhoea Remedy and believe saved his life. I have been engaged for ten years in immigration work and conducted many parties to the south and west. I always carry this remedy and have used it successfully on many occasions."

A Reminder.

To the Mail Box: "And as ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise.—Luke 6, 31.

What a beautiful expression! What a glorious world this would be if this admonition was strictly followed by the human family! To do as we would be done by is a golden rule that would make the world happy, if adhered to, but selfishness takes the place of honor and righteousness and makes men sin against each other, so that strife holds away and causes ill feelings and sometimes lead to quarrels and even duels and death, just because the admonition to do as we would be done by is ignored.

Why can't we learn to do better? This is a day of improvement and progress, but in the matter of our doing as we would be done by, we often pass into retrogression, which is lamentable!

Our aim should always be high and we should not stoop to that which is low and mean, but always keep in mind the beautiful sentence to do as we would be done by.

Then the example we set is seen by all and it is an old adage to practice what we preach. If our example and precept vary what confidence can anyone have in us? Are not our actions telling the world what the inner man is? Do not actions speak louder than words, and tell the character of the actor as we pass through daily life? If we forget to do as we would be done by and act the reverse of good, how far does our teachings in righteousness reach the heart of those who hear our utterances?

Oh! that all would diligently seek to do as they would be done by, in all their daily life, so that peace could reign triumphant and union be the watchword among us all!

Put away selfishness and the grasping disposition, that all may be in union and we may all learn to do and adhere to the instruction, "And as ye would that men should do to you, do ye also to them likewise."

J. W. CARPENTER.

St. George, Utah, July 9.

The recent session of Congress authorized the following expenditures of money in the State of Utah: $1,200,000 for the Strawberry irrigation project; $600,000 for the Uintah irrigation project. $120,000 addition for the Ogden public building; $60,000 for a federal building at Provo and $50,000 for a federal building at Logan. Heretofore the heaviest appropriations for Utah at any one session was $500,000 for the Salt Lake federal building and $200,000 for the Ogden building. For our part we cannot see but what our present representation in the Congress of the United States is fully as able as it has heretofore been, not barring the records of ex-Senators Cannon or Kearns.

Not a Stake Tabernacle

A report having reached The Record that Cedar City was to be the home of a new stake tabernacle for the Parowan Stake of Zion, our reporter asked Pres. U. T. Jones in relation to the matter. Pres. Jones informed us that there was no truth in the report, relating to a stake tabernacle, but that it was the intention to build a stake house here, with vault for the safe keeping of stake records, etc., and offices for the stake clerk and local bishop. The building will be erected next year, but the site has not yet been decided upon. The erection of this building will in no way interfere with the present arrangement of alternating the conference between Cedar City and Parowan.

The Refreshment Committee for the Twenty-Fourth will be pleased to hear from all families having a surplus of milk on the 24th.
